Directions Q. Nos. (41 - 50): Read the following comprehension and answer the question mentioned below:

The surge witnessed in mergers, amalgamations and take - over of companies during the past few years is indicative of the shape of thing to come. While these concepts are not new and were recognized even in the Companies Act of 1913, compulsions have undergone a dramatic change. In the past, merger and acquisitions were used largely as an instrument for revival of sick units or for obtaining tax benefits. It was not uncommon for a business house to merge a sick company with a profit making one to claim tax benefits. The objective was not necessarily to achieve faster growth. The liberalization process witnessed during the late seventies and eighties and particularly the relaxation of some of the restrictive provisions of MRTP Act, and FERA, brought about a qualitative change in the mergers and amalgamations of companies. Even so, the incentive to grow was almost non- existent and in fact some companies preferred to 'demerge' by splitting one company into two or more so - as to escape from the harsh provision of the MRTP Act.

The fast pace of liberalization since July, 1991 and the time-bound programme of structural reforms under pressure from the IMF and the World Bank have shaken the Indian industry from a slumber by exposing it to internal as well as international competition. Not surprisingly, the pressure is building up on every enterprise to modernize and expand to cut costs. Gone are the days of the license and permit raj, high import duties and the prosperity guaranteed by a 'sellers' market' giving way to a 'buyers' market' in large number of industries, the compulsion to look for economies of scale in production and cutting down the selling cost increasing. Simultaneously, the virtual scrapping of the MRTP provisions and relaxation in FERA have removed the disincentive to grow. Hence, mergers, amalgamations and take-over have assumed greater importance. Mergers and acquisitions have now come to represent a short-cut for companies to achieve accelerated growth. This is the trend world over and India cannot remain an exception as it moves towards globalization.

41. What was the motive of some companies to resort to demerger?
- A) To boost their productivity and profitability
 - B) To bypass the Unfavorable legal provisions
 - C) To bring about qualitative changes
 - D) To increase the number of companies under their control
42. The phrase 'sellers' market' giving way to 'buyers' market' means:
- A) Increase in production is proportionate to the demand
 - B) Increase in demand is disproportionately higher than the supply
 - C) Market is financially in favor of consumers as compared to in the past
 - D) Industry's profit margin is enhanced
43. Which of the following is true about Indian Industry's scenario prior to July 1991?
- A) There had been pressures from the World Bank and the IMF
 - B) It was exposed to serve competition on national and international fronts
 - C) Liberalization process was at its peak
 - D) None of the above
44. Which of the following is not an outcome of Indian Industry's exposure to competition?
- A) Switching over to expansion
 - B) Reduction in selling cost
 - C) Adopting new technologies
 - D) None of the above
45. For which of the following were the amalgamations largely used in the past?
- A) Saving on Taxes payable to the Government
 - B) Forcing the Government to adopt liberalization process
 - C) To achieve accelerated growth
 - D) Overcoming the provision of revival of sick units
46. The mergers of companies in the past and present differ in respect of which of the following?
- A) Tax benefits
 - B) Pace of growth
 - C) Objectives
 - D) Modalities
47. Which of the following is true about Government's on import duties?
- A) Import duty is lowered in order to encourage imports.
 - B) Import duty is raised in order to discourage buying of foreign good
 - C) Import duty is now lowered to encourage healthy competition
 - D) Import duty is raised in order to earn substantial revenue

48. The changing scenario, as described in the passage, is most likely to result into:
- Exorbitant profit margin in industry despite financial respite to consumers
 - Reasonable profit margin to industry and marginally higher cost to buyers
 - Separation of two or more companies which had merged into one
 - Adequate profit margin to industry despite lower prices
49. The term 'demerge' as used in the passage means:
- Formulation of two or more companies out of an existing one
 - Re-union of companies which had split out of one company
 - Separation of two or more companies which had merged into one
 - Renaming a company to claim tax benefits
50. Which of the following inferences can be drawn from the passage?
- In the eighties, the change in FERA and MRTP provisions provided the necessary impetus for growth
 - FERA provisions were counter – productive to industrial growth earlier
 - It is only the external financing agencies, pressure that has compelled Indian industry to adopt the present structure
 - Most of the business houses were not inclined for using the merger – tactics for revival of sick units

Directions Q. Nos. (57 – 66): Read the comprehension carefully and answer the questions mentioned below:-

A recent report titled 'Women and Children in India' and a nearly simultaneous report on 'Indian Women – their health and economic productivity' highlight the international importance being given to the problems of the progress of Indian women.

Unfortunately, both the report fails to either convey a fresh understanding of the issue or to suggest innovative and workable approaches for women's development. The former is because the reports restrict themselves to old statistics. We are told, for example, that the ratio of women to men remain below its natural level and that it is related to other parameters, such as the level of literacy and the availability of primary health care.

The failure to suggest a fresh approach is less understandable given that a variety of approaches to women's development has been tried out all over the world. In India, the state has made a strong political and economic commitment to women. In 1990, the National Commission of Women was established. In 1989, two major policy documents were released. Ever since the Sixth Five Year Plan, there has been a special section on Socio-economic – programmes for women. Poverty alleviation programmes have a 30 per cent target for women. Special programmes like development of Women and Children in Rural Areas have also been started

These governmental and other approaches have had mixed results. For examples, SEWA's (Self Employed Women's Association) and WWF's (Working Women's Forum) approach of using bank credit to organize self – employed women has worked well. So also women's literacy programmes in Kerala. On the other hand some of the legislated reforms like dowry prohibition have not worked well. The issue of whether women should be identified as separate participants in the development process is also controversial.

In this context, it is disappointing to read in one of the reports that one of the government's targets for 1991- 95 ought to be foster 'An ethos of caring in the community, not to let child go to bed hungry,' be subjected to a preventable disease or remain without learning opportunity – this could mark the beginning of social process toward a more humane order' is the report saying then the Indians don't love their children as a matter of policy makers. It is very unfortunate that these reports have become superficial and don't delve sufficiently deep into the problems.

57. Which of the following is correct in the context of the passage in regard to development schemes?
- A) All people are of the opinion that women should be given special status
